Q: I have been to your showroom and have seen your Wine Cellar. Does Creative Closets actually construct the room with the temperature control?

Randy
Saucon Valley

A: Hi Randy! Welcome back to our wine cellar. Your question is frequently asked, and the answer is yes. There are several ways to control not only the temperature, but also the humidity, which is equally important. It is crucial that the right cooling system be specified based on the volume of the room. We install special wallboard installation, vapor proof lights, a vapor barrier and exterior doors often with decorative details such as vines, etc.

Floor and ceiling finishes need to be considered as part of the design of the room, stone, brick and tile work well. Have you thought about having a tasting area? When you are ready to start, we look forward to working with you from the ground up.
